Teeple Hall, LLP is pleased to announce their co-sponsorship of the twenty-second annual American Law Institute Continuing Legal Education conference on International Trust and Estate Planning 2019 to be held November 14 – 15, 2019 in Washington, DC. This annual event is the premier course offering the high-level information and strategies necessary to effectively advise both U.S. and international trust estate planning clients.

About the ALI CLE Conference:

This annual program provides the latest information and high-level guidance on taxation, trusts, and estate planning for clients who have international connections. This year's program also highlights timely issues involving tax reform and immigration that affect U.S. persons owning property abroad or nonresidents holding U.S. assets.

Celebrating its twenty-second year, the International Trust and Estate Planning 2019 program has been re-designed with new topics and morning and afternoon sections focusing specifically on foreign related trust issues, inbound planning issues, compliance and ethics issues, and outbound planning issues. This year's program also highlights timely issues involving the consequences of the new and very different tax rules and immigration that affect U.S. persons owning property abroad or nonresidents holding U.S. assets, and include many perennial topics, such as the complications encountered in estate planning for U.S. clients with foreign property and the complexities of planning for foreign trusts. Additionally, it will offer an in-depth review of the factors that should be considered when providing tax and estate planning advice to wealthy individuals and families with both U.S. and foreign contacts.

Other topics to be addressed at the conference include:

- Inbound Planning Issues or Nonresident Investors and Outbound U.S. Citizens and Residents
- Planning and Ethics Issues for the International Estate Planner
- Developments in Tax Transparency, Anti-Money Laundering Rules, Transparency of Beneficial Ownership, and Ethics
- Planning for U.S. Clients Who Are Beneficiaries of Foreign Trusts
